FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ISSUES VEILED WARNING AGAINST GOVERNORS INTERFERING WITH U.S. ON COAL STRIKE ISSUE

ATTORNEY GENERAL DECLARES AGAINST INCREASE IN PRICE

Garfield Declines to Discuss Report From Ohio That Cox Favors Increase of 25 Per Cent to Miners.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The war powers of president Wilson and Dr. Garfield to deal with the coal emergency have been brought to the attention of the governors in the middlewestern states who are attempting to settle the strike and fuel crisis on a basis of their own, with the intimation that the authority of the federal government must not be interfered with.

In a message to Governor Cox, of Ohio, and other governors, the Attorney General has announced the policy of the federal government as being that of not permitting any increase in the selling price of coal to the consuming public and declaring Dr. Garfield's suggestion of a 14 per cent increase to the miners to be a fair and equitable proposition.

Garfield declined to discuss the report from Ohio that Governor Cox is understood to sanction an increase of 15 per cent to the miners.

While confining the message to the governors to a simple statement of the powers and jurisdiction of the federal government in the matter, the attorney general and Dr. Garfield have conveyed the idea that separate action on the part of the states to settle the strike of the miners or to change the basis of wage adjustment that has been sanctioned by the fuel administration will serve to complicate a very serious situation and render more difficult the work of final adjustment and reopening of the coal mines.

LIBERATION OF REDS SOUGHT BY COUNSEL WHILE DETAINED

New York, Dec. 6.—Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, America's two most notorious anarchists, were surrendered to the immigration authorities at Ellis Island upon demand of the department of labor, to await deportation to Russia, after preaching their doctrines in the United States for 30 years.

While they were on the way to the island, accompanied on the government ferryboat by a few of their most devoted followers, their counsel, Harry Weinberger, was appearing before Federal Judge Mayer with a petition for writs of habeas corpus in a last effort to nullify the deportation decree. The writs were granted and are returnable Monday.

The habeas corpus petition was based upon the contention that Miss Goldman is an American citizen by marriage, that the constitutional right of free speech has brought within the pale of the law any radical utterances they may have made, and that deportation to soviet Russia would be illegal because the United States has not recognized the Bolsheviks.

Meanwhile Berkman and Miss Goldman will be held at Ellis Island, with 32 other radicals, awaiting deportation.

COLUMBUS SIGNS TO BE OUT NOW

Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—Every display sign in this city will be darkened tonight. This was ordered by Fuel Administrator Garfield through the railroad administration.

Industries engaged in making non-essential products are to be denied light and power. If the officials of the Rail-Light company here, which supplies the light and power, are unable to determine whether an industry is essential, H. A. Worcester, assistant regional director at Cincinnati, will make the decision.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S 'COME BACK' IN SICK ROOM COUP WILL TEND TO CALM SOCIAL UNREST, REPORT

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson's "come back" as the dramatic sick room coup at the White House has come to be called here, will go a long way towards calming the industrial and social unrest raging and on the increase throughout the country during the past few months.

This is the belief of the thinking men of all parties here, expressed in a single paragraph.

Alarming reports had been reaching Washington for some time that there was uneasiness everywhere on account of not knowing just what was going on in Washington.

The impression was undoubtedly growing in the country that a clique about the president was running things; that he was a very sick man, much sicker than his entourage dared even intimate; and that while he re-

FRENCH MOVE GUNS READY FOR ACTION IN CASE GERMANY BALKS

Paris, Dec. 6.—The French have moved many pieces of heavy artillery to the right bank of the Rhine in order to be prepared for any eventuality in case Germany rejects the peace treaty ratification protocol, the Matin stated today.

All military measures involved in enforcing the treaty terms upon Germany are in the hands of Marshal Foch and Sir Henry Wilson, the chief of staff of the British army, it was authoritatively stated today.

Premier Clemenceau's newspaper L'Homme Libre, said that the details of the military plan probably would be placed before the supreme council today.

"The last word, however, in the enforcement of the conditions upon Germany will rest with Marshal Foch," said the newspaper.

Roy Leach also defeated M. I. Yeager Friday evening, winning 85 to 76. Both contestants were rated at 85 and was closely played, the players being evenly matched.

LOCAL COAL SITUATION YET PRECARIOUS BUT NO CAUSE FOR ALARM, SAY DEALERS

Public Utilities Supplies for Present Needs; Hope Expressed That Railroads Will Let Consignments Be Delivered.

"That the coal situation still continues serious here both to the continued operation of industries and for the individual consumer, but that there is no actual suffering from lack of fuel, is the belief of local coal dealers.

In fact, according to reports of local dealers Saturday the chief difficulty in the coal situation arises from the seizure of the fuel by the railroads, since dealers are having little difficulty in getting the coal shipped from the mines, but are uncertain of it ever reaching here because of the seizure action of the railroads.

If all the coal ordered by local dealers arrived here unobstructed no difficulties would arise from the present fuel famine, it is said. On the other hand, the railroads could alleviate conditions materially by releasing cars of coal tied up in their yards and marked "hold," and by stopping the seizing measures they have been exercising on practically all coal shipped. It is alleged that the railroads are frightened by the strike situation and are laying in a good supply for the future.

COAL FAMINE HITS COUNTRY SEVERELY NOW

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Virtually the entire country is struggling today to make the best of more abnormal conditions than prevailed during the war as a result of the drastic measures being prescribed daily to partially counteract the prolonged strike of miners in the bituminous coal fields.

The situation can be summarized as follows:

Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield indicated that coal production was increasing over last week.

Orders for further curtailment in train service were issued, with suspension for the first time in its history of the famous Twentieth Century limited between New York and Chicago. Approximately 150 other trains in the eastern region also will be affected, beginning next Wednesday.

New York city was included in the restricted area when heat was turned off in the subway, elevated and surface cars during rush hours, and in cabins on some of the ferryboats. Theater signs also were darkened, but for one hour during the evening.

Reports from the Pittsburgh district indicated that many miners there had expressed to their employers a desire to resume work, while word was received from Richard J. Hopkins, attorney general of Kansas, that he believed the coal diggers in that state would break away from the leadership of President Howatt of District 14 of the mine workers.

AMERICAN CROPS SAVED EUROPE FROM DESTRUCTION

Washington, Dec. 6.—American crops saved Europe from destruction—not only once but twice.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston makes this statement in his annual report made public today.

America came to the rescue when the allies were against the wall hard pressed by Germany's military hordes and furnished the food that enabled Europe to hold out, the report declared. Increased production by the farmers and conservation by consumers made this possible.

Again after the armistice the American supplies of food saved Europe from the destruction of starvation, the secretary declared.

"But for this contribution it is difficult to see how the allies could have waged the war to a victorious conclusion," declared the report. "The German people experienced partial famine conditions and the collapse of their military power was due in no small measure to the shortage of food."

MINE CONFERENCE WILL BE RESUMED PROSPECTS GOOD

Governor Cox Says Chances for Strike Settlement in Ohio Appear Good After Conference.

Columbus, Dec. 6.—Prospects for settlement of the coal strike in Ohio are reported to be good, following a conference of operators and miners with Governor Cox. The conference will be resumed Monday.

"Personally I think something is going to come out of it," said the governor. "Both sides showed a fine spirit, and both are anxious to have the strike end. The discussion has taken place on such a broad phase, with so many cross currents, that it was impossible to reach an agreement at once. Both sides, however, wanted the conference continued."

No statement was made from any source as to the proposition the governor placed before the disputants. Belief, however, was that Cox suggested approximately a 25 per cent increase in wages. This is 6 per cent less than the proposal of Secretary of Labor Wilson, which the miners were willing to accept and 11 per cent more than that of Fuel Administrator Garfield, which was acceptable to operators in the Washington negotiations.

At no time were operators and miners in joint session with the governor. Each side had two formal conferences.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT IN PENN. PREDICTED

Dubois, Pa., Dec. 6.—A settlement of the coal strike in the central Pennsylvania fields was believed near when it was announced today that the representatives of the miners and operators will meet in conference here either tomorrow or Monday.

Both the employers and the union leaders said the outlook seemed good and a resumption of the mines, which employ 50,000 men, might be expected some time during the coming week.

It is reported that the men are willing to return to work under the 14 per cent wage increase pending negotiations for a larger advance. By returning to work they believe they will be in better standing than under present conditions.

AMERICAN RANCH IS RAIDED BY BANDITS

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 6.—Mexican bandits raided the Clarendo ranch, 11 miles down the Rio Grande from Zapata, Tex., according to a telephone message received in Laredo by County Judge A. B. Spohn of Zapata county. The bandits crossed the Rio Grande into Texas, rode to the general store on the ranch, bound and gagged the storekeeper, tied him to a post and then looted the store, the message said. They took all the property in the place, packed them on several horses stolen from the corral and then swam the Rio Grande back into Mexico.

Judge Spohn at once communicated the facts to Captain W. M. Hanson, special investigator for the senate committee investigating the Mexican situation. Captain Hanson wired the details to Senator Fall.

JENKINS MIX-UP CRUX OF TROUBLE WITH CARRANZA

Satisfactory Conclusion of Difficulties Over Holding of Consular Agent Will Likely End Disturbance.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson is expected to make the next move in the Mexican situation.

Complete reports of the result of the investigation made by Senator Fall, New Mexico and the subcommittee of the foreign relations committee relative to Mexico, were to be laid before the president today for his study. It is expected that upon the basis of this report the president will send word to the foreign relations committee when it meets on Monday relative to the Fall resolution which provides for a break in diplomatic relations with Mexico.

The state department today is engaged in further investigation of the Jenkins case. With the department officially advised of the release of Jenkins and cable reports declaring that he was released upon bail, the officials of the department were attempting to straighten the matter out.

The Jenkins affair is the crux of the Mexican situation and while there are matters which have to be settled, it is generally believed here that if the Jenkins affair is satisfactorily closed then other questions can be settled without resorting to any such drastic action as intervention.

Opinion in congress as to the future action is divided, and there is doubt whether any move to break diplomatic relations with Mexico could be passed, without such a request from the president.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The release of Consular Agent Wm. O. Jenkins by the Mexican authorities is shrouded in mystery and the state department today began a thorough investigation of the manner in which the American consular official was liberated from the Pueblo jail.

By whom the $500 bail was furnished upon whose authority the amount was put up, and the motives underlying these acts, are totally unknown here. Not only is the state department absolutely in the dark as to the facts in the case, but Jenkins himself, it is said, does not know how or why he was turned loose.

A report from Mexico City stated that the money had been put up by Salter Hansen, a Danish-American banker newly arrived in Mexico and an impression got abroad that perhaps there had been a change of attitude on the part of the United States.

"It is absolutely false," Secretary of State Lansing announced today. "The state department never for a moment thought of changing the policy of Jenkins in refusing bail."

IMMEDIATE PAYMENT FOR COAL SEIZED BY R. R. DEMANDED

Washington, Dec. 6.—Immediate payment by the railroad administration for coal that has been turned over to it for distribution by the mines in West Virginia since the government assumed wartime control of fuel, was demanded today by the smokeless coal operators' association of West Virginia in a communication to H. B. Spencer, chairman of the central coal committee of the railroad administration. The demand was made through Edward J. McVann, of Washington, attorney for the association.

The railroad administration, it is charged, has not made settlement for any of the coal that has been turned over to it during the last three or four weeks. The claim is made that many of the mines now in operation and on the verge of closing down because of lack of funds to meet payrolls and running expenses.

SETTLEMENT BEFORE HEARING

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 6.—Persistent reports circulated here today that John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers had departed for Washington gave rise to belief that settlement of the coal controversy in advance of the miners contempt hearing next Tuesday might be in prospect.

SPRINGFIELD PLANTS CLOSED BY ORDER

Springfield, Ohio, December 5—All Springfield manufacturing plants except those handling food products, will close down Saturday and Monday. They will re-open Tuesday.

In the meantime Acting Mayor Westcott, who has been vested with discretionary powers to administer the local fuel situation, and an advisory committee, will work out a plan for the distribution of such coal as Springfield is entitled to under Dr. Garfield's order.

The Garfield order cutting off coal to "non-essential" plants will be put into effect literally for two days—Saturday and Monday.

The plan is to figure out the amount of coal needed to keep Springfield running, as contemplated in the order, and then by cutting down some of the "essentials" secure enough coal to prevent a complete shutdown of the factories.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Various rumors have gone abroad as to the action of the Board of Managers of the Xenia Theological Seminary at its late meeting, and it seems to be fitting that a correct statement should be made through your paper that the friends of the Seminary and all interested in its welfare may have information. There were two problems brought before the Board for solution, each bearing upon the Seminary's relation to the "New World Movement" of the United Presbyterian Church," as well as to the future location of the Seminary itself. That which was first considered was a proposition from the Faculty and the Committee of Management of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary for the union of the two seminaries and for the location of the united institution at Pittsburgh. For many years this matter has been urged by some of the brethren, more particularly by some in the eastern part of the church. It has never had favor on the part of the great majority of the people, but its advocates have been very persistent and have pressed their case with special diligence in late years. Since war-conditions have seriously affected the attendance of students at both seminaries, and especially since the launching of the New World Movement, this question has been sprung again and again. The Board of Managers had never given formal consideration to the matter until the late meeting, when this definite proposal was laid before it. After considerable discussion the proposition presented was declined, the action of the Board being unanimous upon this point. The second problem was then taken up, namely: Whether or not the larger interests of the Church could be served to better advantage and with greater success if the Seminary should be removed to some point in the Middle-West. There have been many who have entertained the view that there should be a seminary in the West, and this sentiment prevailed among the brethren of the Board at the present time, hence the judgment was expressed that there should be a transfer of Xenia Seminary to some point upon which the synods in control should agree. This judgment was based upon the belief that the enlarged interests of the church required such action, and not upon the doubt of successful maintenance of the Seminary in Xenia. Special mention was made of this sentiment again and again by members of the Board. The synods in control will be asked to consider a plan for such removal at their meetings next fall, and a commission was appointed to formulate such a plan to be presented at these meetings. While the Board sought to lay emphasis upon the advisability of prompt action to reach a final settlement of this matter it also recognized the necessity of giving ample time for accomplishing such a movement, hence a period of five years was suggested for the complete carrying out of the whole transaction. It will be proper to state in this connection, that while the Board acted entirely within its province in taking this step looking toward the removal of the Seminary, the constitution of the Seminary provides that "No question concerning the location of the Seminary shall be determined in the affirmative, except by a vote of three-fourths of the Synods included in the union, and in accordance with the Articles of Union."

The Forged Will

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(Copyright, 1915, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

A young man refined in appearance and manner came slowly up the hill that brought the distant town of Winton in view. There was something sad and sombre in his present mood. It seemed, for in a profoundly meditative and dejected way he kept his eyes fixed steadfastly upon the ground until he reached the apex of the hill.

In the distance was the town. Coming from its direction was a horse and rider rapidly nearing the only habitation in near proximity.

"The Half Way house, and that is Mercy Langdon," uttered the man in great surprise and he started forward, reached the old structure in advance of the girl on horseback, nodded gravely as she leaped from the saddle and clasped his hand with manifold warmth and feeling and he helped her dismount and silently helped her to a bench on the dismantled porch.

"We had better sit in the shade," he suggested. "She did not come with you?" and his eyes scanned the face of the elder sister of the woman he loved, full of eager longing.

"It is better so, Roger," spoke Mercy Langdon. "It would be cruel to her, it could do you no good. You don't know how sorry I feel for you both," and the gentle eyes were filled with tears. "She has sent the letters and your presents," and Mercy extended a small package.

The young man accepted it with quivering frame, drew from his pocket a similar packet, pressed his lips to it in a reverent way, and averted his face to hide his poignant emotion. The woman regarded him pitifully as she said:

"Don't take it so hard, Roger. If you had only returned six months since, as was arranged, as Gladys counted on. Your absence, your silence complicated a situation already bad and sad enough."

"It was no fault of mine," declared Roger. "I had to stick to my post in that far South American country to protect the interests of my employers. A lasting wet spell prevented even the transmission of mail. But oh! Mercy, it breaks my heart to realize that Gladys is compelled, yes, forced to marry a man whom she despises, that I am doomed to lose the only woman I have ever loved."

"And she loves you still—and always will," said Mercy. "You know how it all came about. Before our Uncle Robert Ward went to the far North to look after his mining interests, his secretary, Alvin Glassner, as you know, sought to win Gladys. He returned half a year ago with the story of the death of Uncle Robert in a snowslide. It was a terrible blow to all of us. The proof of Uncle Robert's death was very circumstantial and the court accepted it as valid. Then Glassner revealed the last will of our Uncle. What baleful influence he exerted over our relative I do not know but the will left his estate jointly to Gladys and Glassner, provided they married."

"Yes, I have heard all this," sighed Roger Breen. "But how could Gladys sell herself for money?"

"You utterly misjudge her!" cried Mercy, with spirit. "You were not here, and no word from you. Glassner worked out his designs insidiously. He brought to light the fact that father, who had been previously relieved through the bounty of Uncle Robert, would have to become a disgraced bankrupt if he did not receive immediate financial help, which he could give. At last father's selfish pleadings influenced Gladys. The die was cast. Broken heartily she consented to promise to marry Glassner, who almost proved to her that you were false or dead. It is too late to falter, for Glassner has in some way got father into his power and under constant dread of what he may do if Gladys retracts her pledge. Oh, Roger! what was that?"

It was a groan, clear and distinct, and it came from the interior of the old battered structure.

"Some wayside tramp, probably," carelessly spoke Roger. "The old ruin is a favorite camping spot for that ilk."

The sound was repeated. The accents expressed not weariness or somnolence, but apparent pain. Both arose to their feet. The gentle hearted Mercy clung to Roger's arm as she implored him to investigate further. They crossed the threshold of the open doorway to make out a form stretched across a broken down bench.

"Come! Help! You know me! Mercy—Roger!"

To the amazement of the intruders the tones, though fairly incoherent, were familiar. They peered close.

"Oh, Roger!" gasped Gladys. "It is Uncle Robert!"

"Yes, yes," panted the old man who was arrayed in rags and too weak to arise. "I got this far and my strength failed me. I have heard all. That scoundrel, Glassner! He pushed me over the mountain side. Get me to a doctor, then, ah, then, that miscreant shall suffer!"

Before night Robert Ward was in the kindly hands of loving relatives and Alvin Glassner unmasked and a fugitive from justice. And before night, too, the victim of the forged will was clasped in the arms of the true lover from whom there was to be no further parting.

Willing to Help the Needy.

A famous woman teacher, eighty years old, was sitting on the veranda of a college dormitory in her wheel chair. A student had just brought her some ice water in her silver mug and the teacher had finished drinking it when some tourists came up, saw her sitting there holding out her cup, and they dropped a half dollar in it. Imagine their feelings when they discovered who the "beggar" was!

NEW CONCERN TO BE STARTED IN XENIA SOON

W. B. Wike, manager of the local branch of the W. A. Kelley Ford Agency, Theatrical White, sales manager of that company, and E. B. Curtis, who for a number of years was connected with the wall paper, paint and decorating store now operated by C. S. Johnson, are members of a new electrical supply and decorating firm, to be known as the W. C. W. Company.

The new company will occupy a newly remodeled room in the Davidson building on East Main street, using the room now occupied by the Russell Dry Cleaning Company and that formerly occupied by the Landrum Barber shop, which is at present owned by the three firm members and Ed Davidson, owner of the building.

The two rooms will be thrown into one, with a central entrance, permitting big show windows on either side of the entrance. A new front will be installed, for which work has already started, and the two buildings will be made uniform in construction. The entire front will probably be stuccoed according to the present plans.

The new store will be under the direct management of E. B. Curtis, and neither Mr. Wike nor Mr. White will sever their connection with the Ford Agency. It is planned by the partners to make the store one of the prettiest in the city and to thoroughly equip it with all sorts of electrical supplies, wall paper, paints and supplies of that nature.

Mr. Curtis, who will manage the store, had six years experience under the late George White, and after his death managed the store after its purchase by C. S. Johnson for three years. He is thoroughly versed in the decorating work. Mr. Curtis severed his connection with the Johnson company a year and a half ago, and for a time was in Akron, returning here to assist Mr. Johnson in his business.

It is planned to have the new store in operation as soon as possible after the improvements are completed, which will be shortly after the first of the year.

THE SPECTACULAR CAREER OF HENRY C. FRICK.

A remarkable man died in New York on Sabbath, Henry Clay Frick—remarkable in certain respects, as perhaps all noted men are. For one thing that he rose from a poor country boy and died worth two hundred millions of dollars. In that respect of being born poor, also imitating Andrew Carnegie, both iron-masters and sometime partners, and going to their long home within four months of each other.

Like Andrew Carnegie, whom he followed so closely in death, Henry Clay Frick was one of the great dominating figures in industrial history during the closing quarter of the nineteenth century and the early years of the twentieth.

The biographies of these two men, with almost of lesser magnates, epitomized the magic story of coal and coke, iron and steel. Behind them was a complex background of railroads and steamboats political upheavals extending to the very doors of the United States Senate.

Mr. Frick's birth and ancestry gave little hope that he was destined to be one of America's foremost financiers. His father was a small farmer in West Overton, Westmoreland county, Pa., and it was there Frick was born, December 19, 1849. He went to school until he was sixteen, and then took a job in a little dry goods store in Mount Pleasant.

The young man began to save his money. Then he saw his "acres of diamonds" in the acres of soft coal lands in the neighborhood. In 1871 he organized the firm of Frick & Co.

When Thomas M. Carnegie died in 1886, the direction of the steel interests in Carnegie Bros. fell to Andrew Carnegie. He chose Frick as his first lieutenant, and in 1889 Frick was named chairman of the Carnegie Bros. & Co.

Soon after that began the series of labor troubles culminating in the battle in Homestead, where the strikers fortified the big steel works and opened fire on two large loads of Pinkerton detectives that Frick had hired. (Carnegie was in Scotland.) Ten men were killed and sixty wounded, and the fighting did not end until 6000 soldiers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania overawed the steel workers.

This was in 1892, presidential year, and feeling ran high. On July 23, Alexander Berkman, an anarchist, made his way into Frick's office in Pittsburgh, shot him once and then followed the attack with another shot and three stab wounds as Frick struggled with his assailant. The anarchist also wounded John G. Leishman, who later became ambassador successively to Turkey, Italy and Germany.

Berkman, who was sentenced to be deported with Emma Goldman a few days ago, went to the penitentiary, but was freed in 1902.

Mr. Frick, as his wealth increased, became a decided power in Wall street. He is said to have made $3,000,000 in one speculative deal in Reading Railway stocks.

He was reputed to be the largest individual holder of stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad, of which he was a director. His holdings have been put at about $3,000,000.

Mr. Frick's rivalry with Mr. Carnegie took two rather amusing forms. He constructed in Pittsburgh a twenty-two story office building bearing his name, which is bigger and finer than the one adjoining, which bears Mr. Carnegie's name.

Mr. Frick also built a finer resi-

Several years ago Dr. R. Kent Finley, then president of the class of 1909 of Central High School dreamed a dream of an athletic field for the students of his alma mater.

But Dr. Finley, then minus the title, did more than dream for he was instrumental in starting an organization to make his dream live. Today it is about to be realized for it seems that the Cox Memorial Athletic Field, is but a matter of a short time now, and that it will come into full realization within a year or so.

As proof of how far the dream has gone, tentative plans for the field have already been drawn, the accompanying illustration being the brain child of Sidney Richards, colored lad, and a Senior at Central High School, member of this year's football team, and a member of Coach V. L. Faires' class in draughtsmanship. The drawing has been commended by Architect Pretzinger of Dayton.

Considering that the proposed new High School will be built in the Roberts addition, the athletic field according to the above plans will be laid out not a hundred feet from the new building. To follow these plans the field will be laid between the proposed extensions of Collier and Monroe streets with entrances from both streets.

In the drawing the football field will be laid out in the center of the tract with the quarter mile track fifteen feet wide encircling it. It is planned to also have a hundred yard straightaway for the dashes, which is not shown in the sketch.

Four tennis courts have been provided for in the plans. The combined seating capacity will be five thousand.

Each year up until the class of 1918 was graduated, the senior class dedicated its funds to this field. The class of 1918 was the first to break the ruling and it presented a Victrola to the school. The class of 1919 did not get back into line with the movement either.

With a new High School in the air, and the new athletic field being mentioned frequently, it appears as if the dream of the enthusiastic class presidents of a few years ago, are about to be realized.

The Alumni of old Central High are strongly behind the project and it is possible that only a year or so will elapse before Central High School's football field, will cease to be a joke and become the pride of the sport loving community.

At present about $2,500 is in the fund.

advantages of the fruits of victory, but deny those fruits to our allies. It wouldn't be square.

The treaty of Paris is not perfect. Many Americans find much fault with it. All Americans can find some fault with it. But as it is, it has been approved by our allies, and there is no substitute.

At that, the treaty does not have to be swallowed whole. It is declared by men of all shades of political belief that it is entirely possible to frame a set of reservations which will satisfactorily safeguard the vital interests of the United States without nullifying the treaty. Those reservations may be a little less stringent than those championed by the Republican senators and more stringent than any the Democratic senators have yet been willing to accept. But is it not chiefly a question of phraseology rather than of vital differences?

Nearly everybody who has followed the struggle in the Senate knows about what is necessary from the American standpoint and what is desirable in the way of decency and fairness toward our allies. Senator Lodge and President Wilson alone, if they got together and went at the task with a sincere desire to find a way out, could doubtless produce in two hours a set of reservations that would be acceptable to both parties and would preserve both the safety and the self-respect of the United States.

UNCLE SAM A QUITTER.

If the United States stands pat on the senatorial rejection of the peace treaty the United States will be a quitter, in the eyes of the world and in her own eyes. There is no evading that fact.

This nation fought an honorable war. That war must be ended honorably. It will not be ended honorably if America, having fought a joint war, refuses to be a party to a joint peace. Having fought along side of other powers, we must make peace along with them. Otherwise we not only refuse, ourselves, to take full

PNEUMONIA LEFT BOY WEAK AND SICKLY

Parents Were Almost Hopeless, But He Is Now Well and Strong.

"Our little boy's health was so poor we were afraid we were going to lose him. He is 10 years old, and has had weak lungs ever since he was eight months old, caused by pneumonia. We have been very careful with him and doctored him continually, but we had almost despaired of ever having a strong, well boy.

But since giving him Milks Emulsion, all his trouble is gone, and he is in perfect health."—Mrs. G. W. Smiley, 20 Maple St., Dayton, O.

For restoring appetite, health and strength in sickly children, mothers will find Milks Emulsion the thing they have always sought. Most children like to take it, because unlike many emulsions and tonics, it really tastes good.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

One of the most curious memorials of Livingstone is the "name tree," near Victoria Falls, on the Zambezi. WHEN CAN I GET ONE?

THE NEW GRANT SIX

That is the question that springs instantly from the lips of thousands who see the new Grant Six.

To you who are eager to get one of these fine cars we can only say that the factory's production plans call for double the largest output it has ever produced. It is expected to build over 20,000 of this model.

Every effort is being made by the factory organization to insure a regular, systematic flow of deliveries. Every man in the organization is as anxious as the principals to make new records for production.

But, every man in the Grant organization is also conscious of the fact that before quantity production we desire quality production. The cars must go out each one right.

Naturally such a policy has its drawbacks. It prevents rush—it forces us to make haste slowly—but it has no drawback for the purchaser of a Grant Six. It means that he is absolutely sure of the quality of his car—he knows he will get a truly fine car.

Therefore he appreciates that the new Grant Six is in every way worth waiting for. In fairness to yourself order as far ahead of your actual need as you possibly can.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.
Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.
Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.
Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, enemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.
Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

PLAN MEN'S BANQUET FOR METHODIST GROUP OF CHURCHES TUESDAY

Rev. Charles Bennett, the chairman of the Xenia group of churches, is planning big things for the evangelistic forward movement which is getting into full swing for the winter campaign.

One of the big things planned is a Men's Get-together banquet for the men of the group which will be held next Tuesday night. Representatives from all these 17 churches are expected and probably 300 men will sit down to the banquet which the Ladies Aid Society of First Church will serve in the basement at 6:30 sharp.

Mr. E. Dow Bancroft, of Columbus, who is to be speaker of the evening, is having unusual success in his work among the Methodist men of the Cincinnati Area. He was, for a number of years, Secretary of the Railway Young Men's Christian Association in Columbus. He went to France, during the War, where he served for two years. Upon his return he was requested to take charge of The Minute Men's work in the great Methodist Campaign of last year; and is now drafted to head the work of lay activities in the Cincinnati area. He is a live wire, and there will be "something doing" every minute he is on his feet.

The Male Chorus of the church will sing.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.
Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

EXPLAINS BIRD'S-EYE MAPLE

Fantastic Growth Really Due to the Presence of Buds That Grow Beneath the Bark.

The bird's-eye maple is produced by casual or abnormal buds which have their origin under the bark of the trunk. The first buds of that kind may develop when the tree is quite small. They are rarely able to force their way through the bark and become branches, but they live many years just under the bark, growing in length as the trunk increases in size, but seldom appearing on the outside of the bark. If one bud dies another will rise near it and continue the irritation which produces the fantastic growth known as the bird's eye.

One of the favorite theories regarding bird's-eye has been that sap suckers, by pecking through the bark of young maples, make scars which produce this figure during the succeeding years. Bird-pecked hickory often has been cited as an analogous case, but the effect in the hickory is opposite of the bird's eye in maple. The wood is discolored and unsightly. Some have attributed it to the action of frost, but no such connection exists, it is said.

Freaks Caused by Erosion.

One of the minor "sights" at Shanghai is a huge rock in the shape of a dog sitting up. It is a natural formation. The surface of the earth owes its peculiarities of contour largely to "erosion"—in other words, to stream-flow and "weathering." Thus the great Colorado canyon was cut by a river. The so-called Bad Lands of the West, which present to the eye an aspect so weirdly spectacular, are a product of erosion on a vast scale. That region is a favorite hunting ground for the bones of gigantic extinct reptiles, often revealed to view by the feathering of rocks that once were mud in which they died.—Popular Science Monthly.

True Patriotism is Silent.

A people not factitiously great has no occasion to speak of its greatness, and true patriotism expresses itself in deeds, not words. This patriotism has no suspicions, no jealousies, no fears, no self-consciousness. It is deeper than words. It is silent, majestic; it is where the country is, does what she bids, and though sacrificing all upon her altars, never dreams that it is doing anything extraordinary. There is, perhaps, more of this genuine patriotism in the American people than strangers, or even we ourselves, commonly suppose. The foam floats on the surface and is whirled hither and thither by each shifting breeze, but below are the sweet, silent, deep waters.—O. A. Brownson.

Good Reasons for Optimism.

The little world of ours is not growing worse to the men and women who are doing their best to make it better.

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

San Cura Ointment Should Be In Every Home.

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitehook, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.
It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Sayre & Hemphill to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheuma, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Sayre & Hemphill's.

BEST SKIN SOAP

Is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Sayre & Hemphill's.

The Right Battery for YOUR Car

Every car needs a certain particular type of battery to fit the other electrical equipment the car builder put on it.

And remember—Willard Batteries with Threaded Rubber Insulation last longer and need less repairs than any other you can buy—because the insulation lasts as long as the plates, instead of wearing out and making re-insulation necessary before you have had the full service you should get.

West Virginia.

The present state of West Virginia was formerly, and for a long time, a part of the state of Virginia. The presidential election of 1860 showed that a majority of the people of Virginia were opposed to seceding from the Union, but when President Lincoln issued a call for troops a state convention passed an ordinance of secession without waiting for the popular vote. Later it was ratified by the people of the eastern part of Virginia and repudiated by the people of the western part. Thus the secession, or attempted secession, of Virginia from the Union led to the separation of West Virginia and the formation of the new state.

A Lucky Strike

By VIVIAN LEE

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

Jasper Rolfe saved all he earned and was called a miser. His nephew, Morton Rolfe, spent all he earned and was dubbed a fool by the old man. To the former money always seemed to say, "I've come to stay." To Morton it invariably whispered "Good-bye," until at last realizing that it was the cause of evil, good, happiness and sorrow alike, the extravagant young man decided he must get down to a reasonable system if he ever expected to amount to anything.

His uncle, while niggard as to his own expenditures, had never restricted Morton. He was a man of considerable wealth and owned the gas and electric light company, giving service to Millville.

"If you'll put me in charge of something demanding real ability and labor, I'll tackle it," he told his uncle. "I don't want to travel on a pull, or relationship, and I've about made up my mind to settle up my debts and start out on my own initiative."

"Spoken like a man of ambition," commented Jasper Rolfe, for he doubted not that Morton would return a veritable prodigal. "You're leaving at a critical moment, though. There is going to be a rich plum to pick and some money to make on the water supply system here. As you know the present operating company secure their supply from the bottom of Arden river, fifteen miles north. The stream has nearly run dry this season and the water has been unfit for use and a lot of sickness has resulted. If I could get the franchise and the pipe system and reservoir at a bargain, I would cut over to Princeton river, twenty miles west and improve the service. It would cost a fortune, but it would bring an advance in rates and put the stocks and bonds of the company on a high basis. My idea was to make you active in the new enterprise."

Morton was not specially interested in the proposition. He had no plans for the future, and after resigning his secretaryship drifted around Millville for a week, racking his brains for a solution of the problem as to how he should begin to make a mark in the world. He took long walks in the country, and one day, crossing a barren expanse between the two rivers and not more than ten miles from home, he met his fate.

Destiny came in the shape of as pretty a girl as he had ever seen. She even suggested some wild naid as she flashed into view, hatless and barefooted, crossing a tiny rivulet crowded with rocks. She slipped, fell, and with difficulty dragged herself to dry land. In an instant Morton was by her side.

"You are hurt," he exclaimed solicitously; and shyly but bravely she replied: "It is only my ankle turned. If you would go and tell my father. See, that is our home just over beyond that sapling grove."

"I could carry you that far, if you like," offered Morton. He lifted her bodily and soon reached a house battered and old, with an acre or two under the difficult cultivation that sterile soil allowed.

The father attended to his injured daughter and thanked Morton for his services. Somehow the fair-faced girl and her rude, but picturesque home was a lodestar of attraction to Morton, and the next day found him at the

What they think of the Victor

"I am delighted to contribute a word of appreciation in favor of the Victor, and congratulate myself that my selections are brought before the public in so admirable a manner, by means of its wonderful merit."

FARRAR

"As any true artist must realize, it is of great benefit to 'sit in the audience,' as it were, and be the critic of one's own performance. I this way I have learned a great deal from listening to my records on the Victor, and can truly state that it has been my best teacher."

GALLI-CURCI

"The reproductions of the Victor Records are wonderful. It is my great desire now to seal up and preserve a complete set of my Victor Records for my children."

HOMER

SCHUMANN-HEINK

"The improvement in Victor recording during the past years has been so great that a singer is compelled to give the matter of making Victor Records the most serious and conscientious consideration."

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

Sandra is Overwhelmed by a New Thought.

CHAPTER CXXXVIII.

"Have you seen the paper tonight?"

Everett asked when he came in.

"No, I have been playing with Junior and haven't looked at it. He is so cunning I forgot everything when I am with him."

"Walter Kemp was killed yesterday; rather, injured so badly he died this afternoon. An automobile accident."

"How terrible. Let me see the paper please."

It was only a short paragraph which told of Walter's death; the manner of it. He had a collision with another car, and while both his own chauffeur and the occupants of the other car had escaped, Walter had been terribly injured.

"Poor Rose. What an ending of her married life. She wanted to be happy—longed for it more than anyone I know—unless it is myself," I said, really thinking out loud more than addressing the Everett.

"And so you have longed for happiness, Sandra? I hope you have found it," Everett returned very gravely.

I made no reply. I WAS happy most of the time—in a measure. I could not tell him that the thought of what he had withheld from me, and had given Leola, was a constant hindrance to my happiness. I sent a telegram to Rose at once. I was so sorry for her. It was all so pitiful. Everett remained at home that evening and we talked of little else. I could not dismiss it from my mind.

"I am glad she went back to him now," I remarked. "I thought her foolish when she did it. But I have a feeling she will be happier than if she had not—she is his wife, and he sort of belongs to her now, even though he is dead."

"Yes, she will probably feel that way. Then too it will save gossip and newspaper talk, which would have been almost unavoidable had they been divorced."

I had thought of applying what I had said to Everett until I saw him flush. Then it came to me: Leola belonged to him also, even though she was gone. No matter how she had flitted; how she had pined him when alive; no one could question his claim to her now.

Suddenly Rose, her trouble receded. Walter was gone. But Everett, the man I loved with all my heart, could even now flush over the mention of his first wife—look conscious—and so make me unhappy.

"I wish she was buried fathoms deep in the ocean!" I thought, then wondered if he now visited her grave. If he ever had since we had been married.

Strangely enough with all my jealous thoughts and fears, this never before had occurred to me. Perhaps he made regular pilgrimages to it even now? The cemetery where she was buried was not far; he could easily take time from his business hours to go there and I never should be the wiser.

"What are you thinking of Sandra?" I was startled at the question breaking in upon my thoughts. "Try and put Rose, her trouble, from your mind. We will do anything we can for her; but fretting and lying awake won't help her, and it will harm you.

"No—I wasn't thinking of Rose, just then." I had only faintly heard or absorbed anything but his question.

"What, then? You looked very serious."

"Did I?" I laughed a little as I pulled myself together. Suppose he knew what was in my mind, what would he think of me? He would probably consider me a silly little fool. I answered the question to myself.

"Yes, and dear, perhaps Rose is happier than if Walter had lived—or will be happier after a while. He never would have been true to her—or to any one woman. I am ashamed to confess it, but there are such men; men who have no sense or faithfulness. He was one of them. No one knows from what she has been saved by his being taken from her now." He still thought

XENIAN RE-ELECTED TO HEAD ORGANIZATION

F. W. Walker of the Walker Coal Company and the Walker Transfer Company of this city, who is on a business and pleasure trip and is now at Montgomery, Ala., was the subject of an article in the Montgomery advertiser recently.

The trucking business which Mr. Walker conducts between Xenia, Dayton and Wilmington was interesting to Montgomery readers and the reporter quoted Mr. Walker on his service here. The article stated that Mr. Walker is much interested in the good roads movement which is now progressing in Alabama, from the standpoint of the revolution of the shipping business through the use of trucks, in case the road system of that state is improved sufficiently.

Mr. Walker will be in Montgomery for a time but will also probably visit in Florida before returning north. He will probably stay in the south until spring.

MINISTER WANTS TO HELP

It is only natural that one who has been relieved from suffering should feel grateful and want to help others. Rev. W. F. M. Swyndole, 818 Elm St., Macon, Ga., writes: "My kidneys gave me much trouble before I took Foley Kidney Pills. I am ready at any time to speak a word for Foley Kidney Pills."

WHY GLANDO PINE IS FOUND IN NEARLY EVERY HOME

Glando Pine is the most wonderful cough medicine made because it acts so pleasantly and quickly. It relieves all kinds of throat irritations, stops a cough and opens up the air passages. Glando Pine is a volatile liquid which gives off fumes when it comes in contact with the delicate membrane of the mouth and throat. These fumes enter the air cells of the bronchial tubes and lungs and cut the phlegm or mucus which fills the lungs in pneumonia and causes the tickling sensation in bronchitis. If Glando Pine is taken when the first signs of a cough or cold appears it will destroy cold, grip or influenza germs that may be lodged there before they have time to get imbedded into the delicate membranes of the lungs or bronchial tubes. Glando Pine should always be kept in the house, so it can be used when the first indications of a cold appear. Glando Pine has a wonderful record for curing long standing chronic coughs. Its record is marvelous.

Glando Pine is put up in a concentrated form. Get three ounces (50 cents worth) of your druggist and mix it with any good syrup or honey and you will have a pint of the best cough medicine ever made. Keep it on hands and use it freely. Can be given to very young children in perfect safety. Pull directions with each bottle.

The Glando-Aid Co., Paulding, Ohio.

Injured Man's Condition Unchanged

Vinton Hull, who sustained a fracture at the base of the skull when he was thrown as he jumped from a truck on the lower Bellbrook pike Thursday noon, is in about the same condition today as he was following the accident. There was a slight hemorrhage from the head Thursday afternoon. The attending physician believes that he will recover from the injury is, considered very serious and days to determine the outcome. He is conscious but slightly delirious at times, and has no recollection of the accident.

AGED WOMAN SUSTAINS BAD FALL

Mrs. Mary Hagler who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Spahr, on the Stone road, fell a day or so ago, and sustained a serious injury to her spine and hip. The accident occurred when her crutches, which she has used for the last twelve years due to a fractured hip, slipped and allowed her to fall. Mrs. Hagler is in her 88th year, and because of her age the injury is considered very serious. She had a sinking spell Thursday, but Friday was a little improved.

The Seats of the Mighty.

A certain captain went calling upon the village belle. The old man kept a very vicious housedog, and upon the occasion of the officer's call the dog was unfied. When the fearsome canine had finished with the captain the seat of the latter's trousers was missing. His brother officers, joshing him about his predicament, asked if the girl was worth risking his anatomy in that fashion. The captain replied: "Maybe not, but I have always been willing to give up my seat to any lady!"—Judge.

Sea-Island Cotton.

Practically all of the sea-island cotton is produced in the states of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, the finest coming from the chain of islands off the Carolina coast. It is well named sea-island cotton, as when grown away from the coast the fiber rapidly degenerates into upland cotton unless seed grown in the islands is obtained for planting successive crops.

The Sewing.
The phrase "amen corner" is said to have originated in London, where, at the end of the Paternoster row, the monks at one time finished their recitation of the "Pater Noster" as they went to procession on Corpus Christi day at St. Paul Cathedral. They began in Paternoster row with the Lord's prayer in Latin, continuing it to the end of the street, and then said "amen" at the corner of the row. As used in this country the phrase describes the corner of a church where the elderly members sit and pronounce the word "amen" at intervals.

"Amen Corner."

Smoothing Marital Troubles.
In Norway, when a husband and wife discover that they can no longer live in harmony, they go tell their troubles to a magistrate, who sends them to a conciliation board, a sort of "kiss-and-be-friends" committee who do their best to make the erring couple mutually agree to overlook the other one's faults and persuade them to make another try at the game. If this fails, they are granted a separation order. If at the end of the year they still find each other's company unbearable the ministry of justice is bound to grant a final divorce if asked by either party. Many repent at leisure for hasty parting, as in the case of a well-to-do Swiss farmer who has recently married the same wife for the fourth time.—Detroit News.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ISSUES VEILED WARNING AGAINST GOVERNORS INTERFERING WITH U.S. ON COAL STRIKE ISSUE

ATTORNEY GENERAL DECLARES AGAINST INCREASE IN PRICE

Garfield Declines to Discuss Report From Ohio That Cox Favors Increase of 25 Per Cent to Miners.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The war powers of president Wilson and Dr. Garfield to deal with the coal emergency have been brought to the attention of the governors in the middlewestern states who are attempting to settle the strike and fuel crisis on a basis of their own, with the intimation that the authority of the federal government must not be interfered with.

In a message to Governor Cox, of Ohio, and other governors, the Attorney General has announced the policy of the federal government as being that of not permitting any increase in the selling price of coal to the consuming public and declaring Dr. Garfield's suggestion of a 14 per cent increase to the miners to be a fair and equitable proposition.

Garfield declined to discuss the report from Ohio that Governor Cox is understood to sanction an increase of 15 per cent to the miners.

While confining the message to the governors to a simple statement of the powers and jurisdiction of the federal government in the matter, the attorney general and Dr. Garfield have conveyed the idea that separate action on the part of the states to settle the strike of the miners or to change the basis of wage adjustment that has been sanctioned by the fuel administration will serve to complicate a very serious situation and render more difficult the work of final adjustment and reopening of the coal mines.

LIBERATION OF REDS SOUGHT BY COUNSEL WHILE DETAINED

New York, Dec. 6.—Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, America's two most notorious anarchists, were surrendered to the immigration authorities at Ellis Island upon demand of the department of labor, to await deportation to Russia, after preaching their doctrines in the United States for 30 years.

While they were on the way to the island, accompanied on the government ferryboat by a few of their most devoted followers, their counsel, Harry Weisberger, was appearing before Federal Judge Mayer with a petition for writs of habeas corpus in a last effort to nullify the deportation decree. The writs were granted and are returnable Monday.

The habeas corpus petition was based upon the contention that Miss Goldman is an American citizen by marriage, that the constitutional right of free speech has brought within the pale of the law any radical utterances they may have made, and that deportation to soviet Russia would be illegal because the United States has not recognized the Bolsheviks.

Meanwhile Berkman and Miss Goldman will be held at Ellis Island, with 32 other radicals, awaiting deportation.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S 'COME BACK' IN SICK ROOM COUP WILL TEND TO CALM SOCIAL UNREST, REPORT

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson's "come back" as the dramatic sick room coup at the White House has come to be called here, will go a long way towards calming the industrial and social unrest raging and on the increase throughout the country during the past few months.

This is the belief of the thinking men of all parties here, expressed in a single paragraph.

Alarming reports had been reaching Washington for some time that there was uneasiness everywhere on account of not knowing just what was going on in Washington.

The impression was undoubtedly growing in the country that a clique about the president was running things; that he was a very sick man, much sicker than his courage dared even intimate; and that while he re-

FRENCH MOVE GUNS READY FOR ACTION IN CASE GERMANY BALKS

Paris, Dec. 6.—The French have moved many pieces of heavy artillery to the right bank of the Rhine in order to be prepared for any eventuality in case Germany rejects the peace treaty ratification protocol, the Matin stated today.

All military measures involved in enforcing the treaty terms upon Germany are in the hands of Marshal Foch and Sir Henry Wilson, the chief of staff of the British army, it was authoritatively stated today.

Premier Clemenceau's newspaper, L'Homme Libre, said that the details of the military plan probably would be placed before the supreme council today.

"The last word, however, in the enforcement of the conditions upon Germany will rest with Marshal Foch," said the newspaper.

OTTO HORNICK MAKES HIGH RUN IN BOUTURNAMENT

Roy Leach also defeated M. I. Yeager Friday evening, winning 85 to 76. Both contestants were rated at 85 and was closely played, the players being evenly matched.

LOCAL COAL SITUATION YET PRECARIOUS BUT NO CAUSE FOR ALARM, SAY DEALERS

Public Utilities Supplies for Present Needs; Hope Expressed That Railroads Will Let Consignments Be Delivered.

"That the coal situation still continues serious here both to the continued operation of industries and for the individual consumer, but that there is no actual suffering from lack of fuel, is the belief of local coal dealers.

In fact, according to reports of local dealers Saturday the chief difficulty in the coal situation arises from the seizure of the fuel by the railroads, since dealers are having little difficulty in getting the coal shipped from the mines, but are uncertain of it ever reaching here because of the seizure action of the railroads.

If all the coal ordered by local dealers arrived here unmolested no difficulties would arise from the present fuel famine, it is said. On the other hand, the railroads could alleviate conditions materially by releasing cars of coal tied up in their yards and marked "hold" and by stopping the seizures measures they have been exercising on practically all coal shipped. It is alleged that the railroads are frightened by the strike situation and are laying in a good supply for the future.

The fact that there is enough coal in the city to take care of the small "hand to mouth" consumer, is promising that there will be no suffering for a week or ten days yet, according to one local dealer. The same dealer also said that if there was a strike settlement next week that the fact that the miners always take the holidays off, would cause them not to return to work until after Christmas or New Years, and result in there being no betterment of conditions before the middle of January.

Xenia industries are still fighting to keep their mills open in the face of the coal situation. The Hooven and Allison company, which has to have coal to furnish power for its New Mill and heat for all three of its local mills is leading a "hand to mouth" existence. The company has been successful so far in hauling a poor quality of coal of its own from nearby towns where it has been in yards, and is keeping its plants open by this measure. The company has coal ordered and while making no promises hopes to keep its mills open through the fuel crisis.

COAL FAMINE HITS COUNTRY SEVERELY NOW

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Virtually the entire country is struggling today to make the best of more abnormal conditions than prevailed during the war as a result of the drastic measures being prescribed daily to partially counteract the prolonged strike of miners in the bituminous coal fields. The situation can be summarized as follows:

Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield indicated that coal production was increasing over last week.

Orders for further curtailment in train service were issued, with suspension for the first time in its history of the famous Twentieth Century limited between New York and Chicago. Approximately 150 other trains in the eastern region also will be affected, beginning next Wednesday.

New York city was included in the restricted area when heat was turned off in the subway, elevated and surface cars during rush hours, and in cabins on some of the ferryboats. Theater "dens" also were darkened, but for one hour during the evening.

Reports from the Pittsburgh district indicated that many miners there had expressed to their employers a desire to resume work, while word was received from Richard J. Hopkins, attorney general of Kansas, that he believed the coal diggers in that state would break away from the leadership of President Howatt of District 14 of the mine workers.

AMERICAN CROPS SAVED EUROPE FROM DESTRUCTION

Washington, Dec. 6.—American crops saved Europe from destruction not only once but twice.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston makes this statement in his annual report made public today.

America came to the rescue when the allies were against the wall hard pressed by Germany's military hordes and furnished the food that enabled Europe to hold out, the report declared. Increased production by the farmers and conservation by consumers made this possible.

Again after the armistice the American supplies of food saved Europe from the destruction of starvation, the secretary declared.

"But for this contribution it is difficult to see how the allies could have waged the war to a victorious conclusion," declared the report. "The German people experienced partial famine conditions and a collapse of their military power was due in no small measure to the shortage of food."

MINE CONFERENCE WILL BE RESUMED PROSPECTS GOOD

Governor Cox Says Chances for Strike Settlement in Ohio Appear Good After Conference.

Columbus, Dec. 6.—Prospects for settlement of the coal strike in Ohio are reported to be good, following a conference of operators and miners with Governor Cox. The conference will be resumed Monday.

"Personally I think something is going to come out of it," said the governor. "Both sides showed a fine spirit, and both are anxious to have the strike end. The discussion has taken place on such a broad phase, with so many cross currents, that it was impossible to reach an agreement at once. Both sides, however, wanted the conference continued."

No statement was made from any source as to the proposition the governor placed before the disputants. Belief, however, was that Cox suggested approximately a 25 per cent increase in wages. This is 6 per cent less than the proposal of Secretary of Labor Wilson, which the miners were willing to accept, and 11 per cent more than that of Fuel Administrator Garfield, which was acceptable to operators in the Washington negotiations.

At no time were operators and miners in joint session with the governor. Each side had two formal conferences.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT IN PENN. PREDICTED

Dubois, Pa., Dec. 6.—A settlement of the coal strike in the central Pennsylvania fields was believed near when it was announced today that the representatives of the miners and operators will meet in conference here either tomorrow or Monday.

Both the employers and the union leaders said the outlook seemed good and a resumption of the mines, which employ 50,000 men, might be expected some time during the coming week.

It is reported that the men are willing to return to work under the 14 per cent wage increase pending negotiations for a larger advance. By returning to work they believe they will be in better standing than under present conditions.

AMERICAN RANCH IS RAIDED BY BANDITS

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 6.—Mexican bandits raided the Clareno ranch, 11 miles down the Rio Grande from Zapata, Tex., according to a telephone message received in Laredo by County Judge A. B. Spohn of Zapata county. The bandits crossed the Rio Grande into Texas, rode to the general store on the ranch, bound and gagged the storekeeper, tied him to a post and then looted the store, the message said. They took all the provisions in the place, packed them on several horses stolen from the corral and then swam the Rio Grande back into Mexico.

Judge Spohn at once communicated the facts to Captain W. M. Hanson, special investigator for the senate committee investigating the Mexican situation. Captain Hanson wired the details to Senator Fall.

JENKINS MIX-UP CRUX OF TROUBLE WITH CARRANZA

Satisfactory Conclusion of Difficulties Over Holding of Consular Agent Will Likely End Disturbance.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson is expected to make the next move in the Mexican situation.

Complete reports of the results of the investigation made by Senator Fall, New Mexico and the subcommittee of the foreign relations committee relative to Mexico, were to be laid before the president today for his study. It is expected that upon the basis of this report the president will send word to the foreign relations committee when it meets on Monday relative to the Fall resolution which provides for a break in diplomatic relations with Mexico.

The state department today is engaged in further investigation of the Jenkins case. With the department officially advised of the release of Jenkins and cable reports declaring that he was released upon bail, the officials of the department were attempting to straighten the matter out.

The Jenkins affair is the crux of the Mexican situation and while there are matters which have to be settled, it is generally believed here that if the Jenkins affair is satisfactorily closed then other questions can be settled without resorting to any such drastic action as intervention.

Opinion in congress as to the future action is divided, and there is doubt whether any move to break diplomatic relations with Mexico could be passed, without such a request from the president.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The release of Consular Agent Wm. O. Jenkins by the Mexican authorities is shrouded in mystery and the state department today began a thorough investigation of the manner in which the American consular official was liberated from the Pueblo jail.

By whom the $500 bail was furnished upon whose authority the amount was put up, and the motives underlying these acts, are totally unknown here. Not only is the state department absolutely in the dark as to the facts in the case, but Jenkins himself, it is said, does not know how or why he was turned loose.

A report from Mexico City stated that the money had been put up by Salter Hansen, a Danish-American banker newly arrived in Mexico and an impression got abroad that perhaps there had been a change of attitude on the part of the United States.

"It is absolutely false," Secretary of State Lansing announced today.

"The state department never for a moment thought of changing the policy of Jenkins in refusing bail."

IMMEDIATE PAYMENT FOR COAL SEIZED BY R. R. DEMANDED

Washington, Dec. 6.—Immediate payment by the railroad administration for coal that has been turned over to it for distribution by the mines in West Virginia since the government assumed wartime control of fuel, was demanded today by the smokless coal operators' association of West Virginia in a communication to H. B. Spencer, chairman of the central coal committee of the railroad administration. The demand was made through Edward J. McVann, of Washington, attorney for the association.

The railroad administration, it is charged, has not made settlement for any of the coal that has been turned over to it during the last three or four weeks. The claim is made that many of the mines now in operation and on the verge of closing down because of lack of funds to meet payrolls and running expenses.

SETTLEMENT BEFORE HEARING
Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 6.—Persistent reports circulated here today that John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers had departed for Washington gave rise to belief that settlement of the coal controversy in advance of the miners contempt hearing next Tuesday might be in prospect.

ELLISON AND EDISON CONNIVE IN CONCERT

A number of Xenia people attended the unique Glen Ellison concert, given at Trinity M. E. church Friday evening, in connection with a display of the Edison phonograph.

The Edison Re-creation of voice was interesting as a modern phenomenon, the voice of the talking machine matching that of the singer so that the audience was unable to distinguish whether man or machine was responsible for the silver tones of the music.

The remarkable comparison was given with Mr. Ellison, who possesses a very pleasing voice, singing with the machine, while he broke his voice off in the middle of the song and permitted the machine to finish for him, the audience being unable to tell the difference except by watching the movement of the singer's lips. Instrumental music was also played on the machine.

Mr. Ellison also recited and his recitations were accorded much applause as were the musical numbers and the interesting comparison of voice and machine. The concert was arranged under the auspices of J. A. Beatty and Son.

is furnished by the Dayton Power and Light Company, and George E. Kelly stated Saturday morning that the company had a ten days' supply on hand for heating purposes. The company is still bending every effort in order to secure enough coal to stave off a shutdown.

The Robbins & Myers company operates under Dayton Power and Light company power and heats with its own coal of which it has a supply for several weeks yet. The Xenia Shoe Manufacturing company has a supply of coal for power and heat that will probably last a month yet with more ordered.

The Xenia Water company, with a shut-down facing it for Monday or Tuesday, was able to secure enough coal locally to keep it running for about two weeks more according to Superintendent Cooper.

The O. S. & S. O. Home only has enough coal on hands to last a week, and has only received one car in the last five weeks. However it is thought that there will be little trouble in getting coal for the institution through the state authorities.

At Cedarville, the Hager Straw Board and Paper Company is still unable to operate because of lack of fuel. A. Z. Smith, superintendent of the concern has stated that there are eight cars on the Pennsylvania siding for the company, but that the railroad will not let the company have the fuel without an order from the state fuel committee. The company is barely keeping up enough steam to keep the fire pumps in order and the mills are closed throwing men out of employment.

It is understood that the Dayton Power and Light company is not anticipating any fuel trouble and that it has ten or eleven weeks' supply of fuel yet. This will insure local factories running on that power of operation for some time.

The fact that many people filled their cellars this last summer, has improved conditions over what they were two years ago during the fuel famine, and so far has prevented any actual suffering here, it is thought.

Dealers say there is considerable demand for coal, but there is enough fuel on hand to take care of the small customer who buys his fuel in small drabs, while much of the other demand is from people who have enough to supply them for a while, but are frightened by conditions and wish to supplement what they have on hand.

MRS. CONOVER GIVES VERY INTERESTING TALK.

Members of the Searchlight Club of the O. S. and S. O. Home, and their guests, had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Charlotte Reeve Conover of Dayton, Friday afternoon, in a review of Dr. Edward A. Steiner's book "From Alien to Citizen," and a current events talk.

In his book, Dr. Steiner tells the story of his own life. By birth he was a Zech-Slav. He immigrated to this country in the steerage, and began a struggle which finally placed him in the front ranks of citizenship. His story is told in a most fascinating manner. Dr. Steiner was formerly pastor of a church in Springfield, and was known by some local people. Later he was pastor of a church in Sandusky.

Members of the Junior Woman's Club, had been invited to hear Mrs. Conover, and a number of them responded. The talk was given in the parlors of the administration building. Mrs. Conover arrived at the Home in the morning, and was a luncheon guest at the institution.

It was through the kindness of Mr. Brien of Dayton, a member of the Home trustee board, that Mrs. Conover's services for the afternoon were secured. Mr. Brien paid the expenses for the event.

SPRINGFIELD PLANTS CLOSED BY ORDER

Springfield, Ohio, December 5.—All Springfield manufacturing plants except those handling food products, will close down Saturday and Monday. They will re-open Tuesday.

In the meantime Acting Mayor Westcott, who has been vested with discretionary powers to administer the local fuel situation, and an advisory committee, will work out a plan for the distribution of such coal as Springfield is entitled to under Dr. Garfield's order.

The Garfield order cutting off coal to "non-essential" plants will be put into effect literally for two days—Saturday and Monday.

The plan is to figure out the amount of coal needed to keep Springfield running, as contemplated in the order, and then by cutting down some of the "essentials" secure enough coal to prevent a complete shutdown of the factories.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Various rumors have gone abroad as to the action of the Board of Managers of the Xenia Theological Seminary at its late meeting, and it seems to be fitting that a correct statement should be made through your paper that the friends of the Seminary and all interested in its welfare may have information. There were two problems brought before the Board for solution, each bearing upon the Seminary's relation to the "New World Movement of the United Presbyterian Church," as well as to the future location of the Seminary itself. That which was first considered was a proposition from the Faculty and the Committee of Management of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary for the union of the two seminaries, and for the location of the united institution at Pittsburgh. For many years this matter has been urged by some of the brethren, more particularly by some in the eastern part of the church. It has never had favor on the part of the great majority of the people, but its advocates have been very persistent and have pressed their case with special diligence in late years. Since war—conditions have seriously affected the attendance of students at both seminaries, and especially since the launching of the New World Movement, this question has been sprung again and again. The Board of Managers had never given formal consideration to the matter until the late meeting, when this definite proposal was laid before it. After considerable discussion the proposition presented was declined, the action of the Board being unanimous upon this point. The second problem was then taken up, namely: Whether or not the larger interests of the Church could be served by better advantage and with greater success if the Seminary should be removed to some point in the Middle-West. There have been many who have entertained the view that there should be a seminary in the West, and this sentiment prevailed among the brethren of the Board at the present time, hence the judgment was expressed that there should be a transfer of Xenia Seminary to some point upon which the synods in control should agree. This judgment was based upon the belief that the enlarging interests of the church required such action, and not upon the doubt of successful maintenance of the Seminary in Xenia. Special mention was made of this sentiment again and again by members of the Board. The synods in control will be asked to consider a plan for such removal at their meetings next fall, and a commission was appointed to formulate such a plan to be presented at these meetings. While the Board sought to lay emphasis upon the advisability of prompt action to reach a final settlement of this matter it also recognized the necessity of giving ample time for accomplishing such a movement, hence a period of five years was suggested for the complete carrying out of the whole transaction. It will be proper to state in this connection, that while the Board acted entirely within its province in taking this step looking toward the removal of the Seminary, the Constitution of the Seminary provides that "No question concerning the location of the Seminary shall be determined in the affirmative except by a vote of three-fourths of the Synods included in the union, and in accordance with the Articles of Union."

The Potato.

In its native country, on the mountains of Chile and Peru, writes Jean Henri Fabre, to Field, Forest and Farm, the potato in its wild state is a poor diminutive tuber about as large as a hazelnut. Man takes the worthless wild stock into his garden, plants it in rich soil, tends it, waters it; and behold, from year to year the potato thrives more and more, gaining in size and in nutritive properties, and finally becomes a fatiguesome tuber as large as your two fists.

The Forged Will

By GEORGE ELMER COBB
(Copyright, 1915 by the Western Newspaper Union.)

A young man refined in appearance and manner came slowly up the hill that brought the distant town of Winton in view. There was something sad and sombre in his present mood. It seemed, for in a profoundly meditative and dejected way he kept his eyes fixed steadfastly upon the ground until he reached the apex of the hill.

In the distance was the town. Coming from its direction was a horse and rider rapidly nearing the only habitation in near proximity.

"The Half Way house, and that is Mercy Langdon," uttered the man in great surprise and he started forward, reached the old structure in advance of the girl on horseback, nodded gravely as she leaned from the saddle and clasped his hand with manifest warmth and feeling and he helped her dismount and silently helped her to a bench on the dismantled porch.

"We had better sit in the shade," he suggested. "She did not come with you?" and his eyes scanned the face of the elder sister of the woman he loved, full of eager longing.

"It is better so, Roger," spoke Mercy Langdon. "It would be cruel to her, it could do you no good. You don't know how sorry I feel for you both," and the gentle eyes were filled with tears. "She has sent the letters and your presents," and Mercy extended a small package.

The young man accepted it with quivering frame, drew from his pocket a similar packet, pressed his lips to it in a reverent way, and averted his face to hide his poignant emotion. The woman regarded him pitifully as she said:

"Don't take it so hard, Roger. If you had only returned six months since, as was arranged, as Gladys counted on. Your absence, your silence complicated a situation already bad and sad enough."

"It was no fault of mine," declared Roger. "I had to stick to my post in that far South American country to protect the interests of my employers. A lasting wet spell prevented even the transmission of mail. But oh! Mercy, it breaks my heart to realize that Gladys is compelled, yes, forced to marry a man whom she despises, that I am doomed to lose the only woman I have ever loved."

"And she loves you still—and always will," said Mercy. "You know how it all came about. Before our Uncle Robert Ward went to the far North to look after his mining interests, his secretary, Alvin Glassner, as you know, sought to win Gladys. He returned half a year ago with the story of the death of Uncle Robert in a snowslide. It was a terrible blow to all of us. The proof of Uncle Robert's death was very circumstantial and the court accepted it as valid. Then Glassner revealed the last will of our Uncle. What baleful influence he exerted over our relative I do not know but the will left his estate jointly to Gladys and Glassner, provided they married."

"Yes, I have heard all this," sighed Roger Breen. "But how could Gladys sell herself for money?"

"You utterly misjudge her," cried Mercy, with spirit. "You were not here, and no word from you. Glassner worked out his designs insidiously. He brought to light the fact that father, who had been previously relieved through the bounty of Uncle Robert, would have to become a disgraced bankrupt if he did not receive immediate financial help, which he could give. At last father's selfish pleadings influenced Gladys. The die was cast. Broken heartily she consented to promise to marry Glassner, who almost proved to her that you were false or dead. It is too late to falter, for Glassner has in some way got father into his power and under constant dread of what he may do if Gladys retracts her pledge. Oh, Roger! what was that?"

It was a groan, clear and distinct, and it came from the interior of the old battered structure.

"Some wayside tramp, probably," carelessly spoke Roger. "The old ruin is a favorite camping spot for that ilk."

The sound was repeated. The accents expressed not weariness or somnolence, but apparent pain. Both arose to their feet. The gentle hearted Mercy clung to Roger's arm as she implored him to investigate further. They crossed the threshold of the open doorway to make out a form stretched across a broken down bench.

"Come! Help! You know me! Mercy—Roger!"

To the amazement of the intruders the tones, though fairly incoherent, were familiar. They peered close.

"Oh, Roger!" gasped Gladys. "It is Uncle Robert!"

"Yes, yes," panted the old man who was arrayed in rags and too weak to arise. "I got this far and my strength failed me. I have heard all. That scoundrel, Glassner! He pushed me over the mountain side. Get me to a doctor, then ah, then, that miscreant shall suffer."

Before night Robert Ward was in the kindly hands of loving relatives and Alvin Glassner unmasked and a fugitive from justice. And before night, too, the victim of the forged will was clasped in the arms of the true lover from whom there was to be no further parting.

NEW CONCERN TO BE STARTED IN XENIA SOON

W. B. Wike, manager of the local branch of the W. A. Kelley Ford Agency, Theatrical White, sales manager of that company, and E. B. Curtis, who for a number of years was connected with the wall paper, paint and decorating store now operated by C. S. Johnson, are members of a new electrical supply and decorating firm, to be known as the W. C. W. Company.

The new company will occupy a newly remodeled room in the Davidson building on East Main street, using the room now occupied by the Russell Dry Cleaning Company and that formerly occupied by the Landrum Barber shop, which is at present owned by the three firm members and Ed Davidson, owner of the building.

The two rooms will be thrown into one, with a central entrance, permitting big show windows on either side of the entrance. A new front will be installed, for which work has already started, and the two buildings will be made uniform in construction. The entire front will probably be stuccoed according to the present plans.

The new store will be under the direct management of E. B. Curtis, and neither Mr. Wike nor Mr. White will sever their connection with the Ford Agency. It is planned by the partners to make the store one of the prettiest in the city and to thoroughly equip it with all sorts of electrical supplies, wall paper, paints and supplies of that nature.

Mr. Curtis, who will manage the store, had six years experience under the late George White, and after his death managed the store after its purchase by C. S. Johnson for three years. He is thoroughly versed in the decorating work. Mr. Curtis severed his connection with the Johnson company a year and a half ago, and for a time was in Akron, returning here to assist Mr. Johnson in his business.

It is planned to have the new store in operation as soon as possible after the improvements are completed, which will be shortly after the first of the year.

THE SPECTACULAR CAREER OF HENRY C. FRICK.

A remarkable man died in New York on Sabbath, Henry Clay Frick—remarkable in certain respects, as perhaps all noted men are. For one thing that he rose from a poor country boy and died worth two hundred millions of dollars. In that respect of being born poor, also imitating Andrew Carnegie, both iron-masters and some-time partners, and going to their long home within four months of each other.

Like Andrew Carnegie, whom he followed so closely in death, Henry Clay Frick was one of the great dominating figures in industrial history during the closing quarter of the nineteenth century and the early years of the twentieth.

The biographies of these two men, with almost of lesser magnates, epitomized the magic story of coal and coke, iron and steel. Behind them was a complex background of railroads and steamboats political upheavals extending to the very doors of the United States Senate.

Mr. Frick's birth and ancestry gave little hope that he was destined to be one of America's foremost financiers. His father was a small farmer in West Overton, Westmoreland county, Pa., and it was there Frick was born, December 19, 1849. He went to school until he was sixteen, and then took a job in a little dry goods store in Mount Pleasant.

The young man began to save his money. Then he saw his "acres of diamonds" in the acres of soft coal lands in the neighborhood. In 1871 he organized the firm of Frick & Co.

When Thomas M. Carnegie died in 1886, the direction of the steel interests in Carnegie Bros. fell to Andrew Carnegie. He chose Frick as his first lieutenant, and in 1889 Frick was named chairman of the Carnegie Bros. & Co.

Soon after that began the series of labor troubles culminating in the battle in Homestead, where the strikers fortified the big steel works and opened fire on two large loads of Pinkerton detectives that Frick had hired. (Carnegie was in Scotland.) Ten men were killed and sixty wounded, and the fighting did not end until 6000 soldiers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania overawed the steel workers.

This was in 1892, presidential year, and feeling ran high. On July 23, Alexander Berkman, an anarchist, made his way into Frick's office in Pittsburgh, shot him once and then followed the attack with another shot and three stab wounds as Frick struggled with his assailant. The anarchist also wounded John G. Leishman, who later became ambassador successively to Turkey, Italy and Germany.

Berkman, who was sentenced to be deported with Emma Goldman a few days ago, went to the penitentiary, but was freed in 1902.

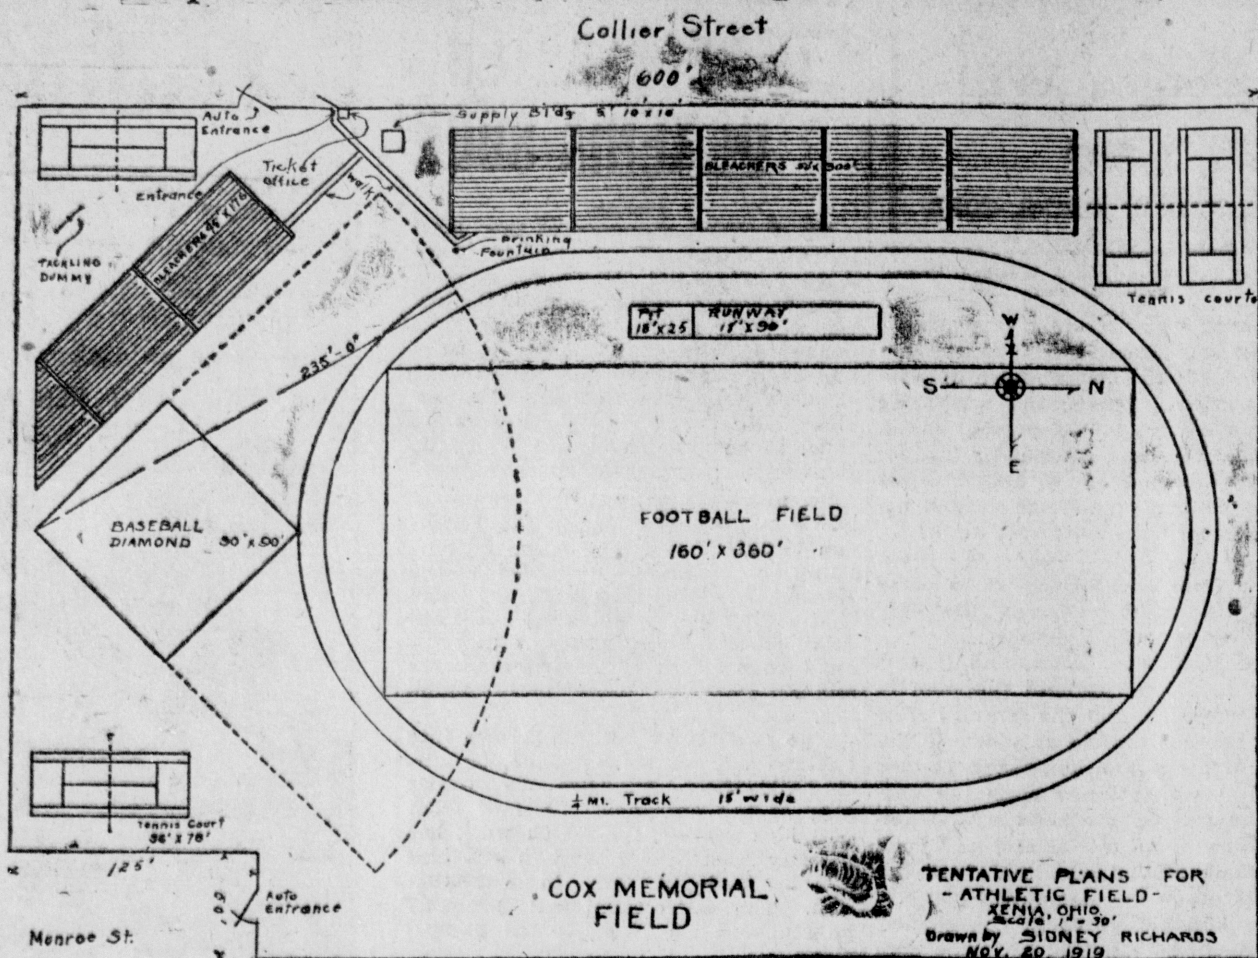

Mr. Frick, as his wealth increased, became a decided power in Wall street. He is said to have made $3,000,000 in one speculative deal in Reading Railway stocks.

He was reputed to be the largest individual holder of stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad, of which he was a director. His holdings have been put at about $3,000,000.

Mr. Frick's rivalry with Mr. Carnegie took two rather amusing forms. He constructed in Pittsburgh a twenty-two story office building bearing his name, which is bigger and finer than the one adjoining, which bears Mr. Carnegie's name.

Mr. Frick also built a finer resi-

Proposed Stadium For Central High School In Xenia

Several years ago Dr. R. Kent Finley, then president of the class of 1909 of Central High School dreamed of an athletic field for the students of his alma mater. But Dr. Finley, then minus the title, did more than dream for he was instrumental in starting an organization to make his dream live. Today it is about to be realized for it seems that the Cox Memorial Athletic Field, is but a matter of a short time now, and that it will come into full realization within a year or so.

As proof of how far the dream has gone, tentative plans for the field have already been drawn, the accompanying illustration being the brain child of Sidney Richards, colored lad, and a Senior at Central High School, member of this year's football team, and a member of Coach V. L. Fair's class in draughtsmanship. The drawing has been commended by Architect Pretzinger of Dayton.

Considering that the proposed new High School will be built in the Roberts addition, the athletic field according to the above plans will be laid out not a hundred feet from the new building. To follow these plans the field will be laid between the proposed extensions of Collier and Monroe streets with entrances from both streets.

In the drawing the football field will be laid out in the center of the tract with the quarter mile track fifteen feet wide encircling it. It is planned to also have a hundred yard straightaway for the dashes, which is not shown in the sketch.

Four tennis courts have been provided for in the plans. The combined seating capacity will be five thousand.

Each year up until the class of 1918 was graduated, the senior class dedicated its funds to this field. The class of 1918 was the first to break the ruling and it presented a Victrola to the school. The class of 1919 did not get back into line with the movement either.

With a new High School in the air, and the new athletic field being mentioned frequently, it appears as if the dream of the enthusiastic class presidents of a few years ago, are about to be realized.

The Alumni of old Central High are strongly behind the project and it is possible that only a year or so will elapse before Central High School's football field, will cease to be a joke and become the pride of the sport loving community.

At present about $2,500 is in the fund.

fairness toward our allies, Senator Lodge and President Wilson alone, if they got together and went at the task with a sincere desire to find a way out, could doubtless produce in two hours a set of reservations that would be acceptable to both parties and would preserve both the safety and the self-respect of the United States.

advantages of the fruits of victory, but deny those fruits to our allies. It wouldn't be square.

The treaty of Paris is not perfect. Many Americans find much fault with it. All Americans can find some fault with it. But as it is, it has been approved by our allies, and there is no substitute.

At that, the treaty does not have to be swallowed whole. It is declared by men of all shades of political belief that it is entirely possible to frame a set of reservations which will satisfactorily safeguard the vital interests of the United States without nullifying the treaty. Those reservations may be a little less stringent than those championed by the Republican senators and more stringent than any the Democratic senators have yet been willing to accept. But is it not chiefly a question of phraseology rather than of vital differences?

Nearly everybody who has followed the struggle in the Senate knows about what is necessary from the American standpoint and what is desirable in the way of decency and

If the United States stands pat on the senatorial rejection of the peace treaty the United States will be a quitter, in the eyes of the world and in her own eyes. There is no evading that fact.

This nation fought an honorable war. That war must be ended honorably. It will not be ended honorably if America, having fought a joint war, refuses to be a party to a joint peace. Mr. Frick's health was so poor we were afraid they were going to lose him. He is 10 years old, and has had weak lungs ever since he was eight months old, caused by pneumonia. restoring appetite, health and strength in sickly children, mothers will find Milk's Emulsion the thing they have always sought. Most children like to take it, because unlike many emulsions and tonics, it really tastes good.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

Reap Additional Profits by Spreading Straw. Why waste your most valuable by-product?

Every ton of straw is worth $2.00 to $5.00 per ton as fertilizer alone. Besides that, it protects your crops against winter-kill and drouth—your best guarantee of big yields.

It's a soil mellowing, a valuable source of humus and a reservoir of moisture. It prevents soil blowing and "pasty" spots—holds a protecting blanket of snow on wheat.

Experimental stations and practical farmers prove that straw spread with the "Eagle" will net

$5.00 to $25.00 more per acre per year.

WHEN CAN I GET ONE?

THE NEW GRANT SIX

That is the question that springs instantly from the lips of thousands who see the new Grant Six.

To you who are eager to get one of these fine cars we can only say that the factory's production plans call for double the largest output it has ever produced. It is expected to build over 20,000 of this model.

Every effort is being made by the factory organization to insure a regular, systematic flow of deliveries. Every man in the organization is as anxious as the principals to make new records for production.

But, every man in the Grant organization is also conscious of the fact that before quantity production we desire quality production. The cars must go out each one right.

Naturally such a policy has its drawbacks. It prevents rush—but it has no drawback for the purchaser of a Grant Six. It means that he is absolutely sure of the quality of his car—he knows he will get a truly fine car.

Therefore he appreciates that the new Grant Six is in every way worth waiting for. In fairness to yourself order as far ahead of your actual need as you possibly can.

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Aroclor and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you. Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

PLAN MEN'S BANQUET FOR METHODIST GROUP OF CHURCHES TUESDAY

Rev. Charles Bennett, the chairman of the Xenia group of churches, is planning big things for the evangelistic forward movement which is getting into full swing for the winter campaign.

One of the big things planned is a Men's Get-together banquet for the men of the group which will be held next Tuesday night. Representatives from all these 17 churches are expected and probably 300 men will sit down to the banquet which the Ladies Aid Society of First Church will serve in the basement at 6:30 sharp.

Mr. E. Dow Bancroft, of Columbus, who is to be speaker of the evening, is having unusual success in his work among the Methodist men of the Cincinnati Area. He was, for a number of years, Secretary of the Railway Young Men's Christian Association in Columbus. He went to France, during the War, where he served for two years. Upon his return he was requested to take charge of The Minute Men's work in the great Methodist Campaign of last year; and is now drafted to head the work of lay activities in the Cincinnati area. He is a live wire, and there will be "something doing" every minute he is on his feet.

The Male Chorus of the church will sing.

PORT WILLIAM

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again. Jad Salts is an inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

True Patriotism is Silent.

A people not factitiously great has no occasion to speak of its greatness, and true patriotism expresses itself in deeds, not words. This patriotism has no suspicions, no jealousies, no fears, no self-consciousness. It is deeper than words. It is silent, majestic; it is where the country is, does what she bids, and though sacrificing all upon her altars, never dreams that it is doing anything extraordinary. There is, perhaps, more of this genuine patriotism in the American people than strangers, or even we ourselves, commonly suppose. The foam floats on the surface and is whirled hither and thither by each shifting breeze, but below are the sweet, silent, deep waters.—O. A. Brownson.

Good Reasons for Optimism.

The little world of ours is not growing worse to the men and women who are doing their best to make it better.

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

San Cura Ointment Should Be In Every Home.

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitebeck, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Sayre & Hemphill to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheuma, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Sayre & Hemphill's.

West Virginia.

The present state of West Virginia was formerly, and for a long time, a part of the state of Virginia. The presidential election of 1860 showed that a majority of the people of Virginia were opposed to seceding from the Union, but when President Lincoln issued a call for troops a state convention passed an ordinance of secession without waiting for the popular vote. Later it was ratified by the people of the eastern part of Virginia and repudiated by the people of the western part. Thus the secession, or attempted secession, of Virginia from the Union led to the separation of West Virginia and the formation of the new state.

A Lucky Strike

By VIVIAN LEE

(Copyright, 1913, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

Jasper Roife saved all he earned and was called a miser. His nephew, Morton Roife, spent all he earned and was dubbed a fool by the old man. To the former money always seemed to say, "I've come to stay." To Morton it invariably whispered "Good-bye," until at last realizing that it was the cause of evil, good, happiness and sorrow alike, the extravagant young man decided he must get down to a reasonable system if he ever expected to amount to anything. His uncle, while niggard as to his own expenditures, had never restricted Morton. He was a man of considerable wealth and owned the gas and electric light company giving service to Millville.

"If you'll put me in charge of something demanding real ability and labor, I'll tackle it," he told his uncle. "I don't want to travel on a pull, or relationship, and I've about made up my mind to settle up my debts and start out on my own initiative."

"Spoken like a man of ambition," commented Jasper Roife, for he doubted not that Morton would return a veritable prodigal. "You're leaving at a critical moment, though. There is going to be a rich plum to pick and some money to make on the water supply system here. As you know the present operating company secure their supply from the bottom of Arden river, fifteen miles north. The stream has nearly run dry this season and the water has been unfit for use and a lot of sickness has resulted. If I could get the franchise and the pipe system and reservoir at a bargain, I would cut over to Princeton river, twenty miles west and improve the service. It would cost a fortune, but it would bring an advance in rates and put the stocks and bonds of the company on a high basis. My idea was to make you active in the new enterprise."

Morton was not specially interested in the proposition. He had no plans for the future, and after resigning his secretaryship drifted around Millville for a week, racking his brains for a solution of the problem as to how he should begin to make a mark in the world. He took long walks in the country, and one day, crossing a barren expanse between the two rivers and not more than ten miles from home, he met his fate.

Destiny came in the shape of as pretty a girl as he had ever seen. She even suggested some wild noddad as she flashed into view, hatless and barefooted, crossing a tiny rivulet crowded with rocks. She slipped, fell, and with difficulty dragged herself to dry land. In an instant Morton was by her side.

"You are hurt," he exclaimed solicitously; and shyly but bravely she replied: "It is only my ankle turned. If you would go and tell my father. See, that is our home just over beyond that sapling grove."

"I could carry you that far, if you like," offered Morton. He lifted her bodily and soon reached a house battered and old, with an acre or two under the difficult cultivation that sterile soil allowed.

The father attended to his injured daughter and thanked Morton for his services. Somehow the fair-faced girl and her rude, but picturesque home was a lodestar of attraction to Morton, and the next day found him at the isolated habitation inquiring after her health.

She was Ruth Glenn, he learned, and with her assistance her father just managed to eke out a subsistence. She sat in a rustic home-made arm chair and her frank, innocent ways and unpretentious bearing charmed Morton. He chanced to ask for a drink of water and Mr. Glenn brought a dipper full from a pail, so cool and refreshing, and so different from that served out at Millville, that Morton remarked that he must have a very choice well.

"That water doesn't come from a well, but a spring," enlightened Mr. Glenn. "It burst out about a month ago one night over beyond the timber ridge yonder. I want you to see it. A man who happened to pass here last week says that it is a marvel of nature, and that he never saw a larger well except in Florida that is known as a great phenomenon."

Morton Roife looked aroused and interested as his host led him to the spring in question. It bubbled forth between two rocks, high and sparkling, forming almost a torrent down a narrow rut.

"What a waste! hundreds of gallons a minute," exclaimed Morton. "Where does it run to?"

"Over to the Princeton river, they tell me," and Morton went back to Millville thoughtful and calculating.

A week later he had an expert hydro engineer on the spot. Before the month was out he held a deed of co-partnership with John Glenn. When he had his plans all perfected for piping this supply of pure water to Millville, he went before the town council and submitted a proposition that brought them a fifty years' franchise. "I never fancied I was born to be rich," observed John Glenn, when the first returns from the joint undertaking materialized.

"And I never hoped for wealth. Oh, such treasure," responded Morton with a devouring glance at Ruth, to him the greatest prize on earth.

Agreed.

"We want more honest men in politics," exclaimed the reformer. "That's right," agreed the practical politician. "The more honest men we have in politics the less politics will cost."

When selecting a musical instrument for your home, wouldn't you value the opinions of the world's greatest artists? Wouldn't you like to benefit by what they think of it?

Certainly no one is better qualified to judge a musical instrument! They know music. Their life-work is music. And what they say about the Victrola is of the utmost importance.

They not only endorse the Victrola, but they show their unbounded confidence in it by making Victor Records exclusively.

Come in and let us demonstrate the Victrola to you.

Adair's
20-24 North Detroit Street
Xenia, Ohio.
Furniture, Carpets, Stoves, Victrolas.

"I have an exclusive agreement for twenty-five years with the Victor to make records of my voice. The records made by the Victor process are far superior—in quality of tone, in every detail—to those made by any other process in the world."

CARUSO

"I have found Victor Records really wonderful reproductions of my singing."

MELBA

"I am delighted to contribute a word of appreciation in favor of the Victor, and congratulate myself that my selections are brought before the public in so admirable a manner, by means of its wonderful merit."

FARRAR

"As any true artist must realize, it is of great benefit to sit in the audience, as it were, and be the critic at one's own performance. I this way I have learned a great deal from listening to my records on the Victrola and can truly state that it has been my best teacher."

GALLI-CURCI

"I would like to express my delight at renewing my contract with the Victor Talking Machine Company for ten years more."

Shubert

"The reproductions of the Victor Records are wonderful. It is my great desire now to seal up and preserve a complete set of my Victor Records for my children."

HOMER

"I believe that the process by which the Victor Records are made is the most perfect of all methods of voice reproduction. I have made records exclusively for the Victor since February 1910 and my present contract does not expire until February 1922."

De Luca

"I consider my Victor Records absolutely like-like reproductions of my singing—that is the reason I make records only for the Victor."

Scotti

"The Victor today is the most reliable and the most just critic, as it reproduces absolutely what the artist has done."

SCHUMANN-HEINK

"I wish to express my appreciation of the splendid quality of the Victor Records which they seem to me remarkably like and faithful."

MARTINELLI

"The improvement in Victor recording, during the past years has been so great that a singer is compelled to give the matter of making Victor Records the most serious and conscientious consideration."

Schumann-Heink

Where U. S. Consul Jenkins Was Jailed at Pueblo, Mexico

Interior of Mexican federal prison at Pueblo.

William O. Jenkins, U. S. consul at Pueblo, Mexico, is spending his time in this prison while Carranza and Secretary Lansing exchange notes. Mexican officials say Jenkins plotted with bandits his own kidnapping. This story is regarded in Washington as absurd. The Mexicans have extended many privileges to Jenkins during his stay in prison. His wife calls on him daily.

Big Man in His Day.

Goliath, the Philistine giant, must have caused a lot of trouble for the army quartermasters of his day. How did they get a regulation uniform to fit him, for he stood eleven feet three inches in his stocking feet; if, indeed, Philistines of those times wore stockings.—Boston Post.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

Sandra is Overwhelmed by a New Thought.

CHAPTER CXXXVIII.

"Have you seen the paper tonight?" Everett asked when he came in.

"No, I have been playing with Junior and haven't looked at it. He is so cunning I forgot everything when I am with him."

"Walter Kemp was killed yesterday; rather, injured so badly he died this afternoon. An automobile accident."

"How terrible. Let me see the paper please."

It was only a short paragraph which told of Walter's death; the manner of it. He had a collision with another car, and while both his own chauffeur and the occupants of the other car had escaped, Walter had been terribly injured.

"Poor Rose. What an ending of her married life. She wanted to be happy—longed for it more than any one I know—unless it is myself," I said, really thinking out loud more than addressing Everett.

"And so you have longed for happiness, Sandra? I hope you have found it," Everett returned very gravely.

I made no reply. I WAS happy most of the time—in a measure. I could not tell him that the thought of what he had withheld from me, and had given Leola, was a constant hindrance to my happiness. I sent a telegram to Rose at once. I was so sorry for her. It was all so pitiful. Everett remained at home that evening and we talked of little else. I could not dismiss it from my mind.

"I am glad you went back to him now," I remarked. "I thought her foolish when she did it. But I have a feeling she will be happier than if she had not—she is his wife, and he sort of belongs to her now, even though he is dead."

"Yes, she will probably feel that way. Then too it will give gossip and newspaper talk, which would have been almost unavoidable had they been divorced."

I had thought of applying what I had said to Everett until I saw him flush. Then it came to me: Leola belonged to him also, even though she was gone. No matter how she had flitted; how she had pined him when alive; no one could question his claim to her now.

Suddenly Rose, her trouble receded. Walter was gone. But Everett, the man I loved with all my heart, could even now flush over the mention of his first wife—look conscious—and so make me unhappy.

"I wish she was buried fathoms deep in the ocean!" I thought, then wondered if he now visited her grave. If he ever had since we had been married.

Strongly enough with all my jealous thoughts and fears, this never before had occurred to me. Perhaps he made regular pilgrimages to it even now? The cemetery where she was buried was not far; he could easily take time from his business hours to go there and I never should be the wiser.

"What are you thinking of Sandra?" I was startled at the question breaking in upon my thoughts. "Try and put Rose, her trouble, from your mind. We will do anything we can for her; but fretting and lying

XENIAN RE-ELECTED TO HEAD ORGANIZATION

F. W. Walker of the Walker Coal Company and the Walker Transfer Company of this city, who is on a business and pleasure trip and is now at Montgomery, Ala., was the subject of an article in the Montgomery advertiser recently.

The trucking business which Mr. Walker conducts between Xenia, Dayton and Wilmington was interesting to Montgomery readers and the reporter quoted Mr. Walker on his service here. The article stated that Mr. Walker is much interested in the good roads movement which is now progressing in Alabama, from the standpoint of the revolution of the shipping business through the use of trucks, in case the road system of that state is improved sufficiently. Mr. Walker will be in Montgomery for a time but will also probably visit in Florida before returning north. He will probably stay in the south until spring.

"All the world's a stage," and yet some people look upon the revolving stage as a modern idea.

MINISTER WANTS TO HELP

It is only natural that one who has been relieved from suffering should feel grateful and want to help others. Rev. W. F. M. Swynole, 818 Elm St., Macon, Ga., writes: "My kidneys gave me much trouble before I took Foley Kidney Pills. I am ready at any time to speak a word for Foley Kidney Pills."

WHY GLANDO PINE IS FOUND IN NEARLY EVERY HOME

Glando Pine is the most wonderful cough medicine made because it acts so pleasantly and quickly. It relieves all kinds of throat irritations, stops a cough and opens up the air passages. Glando Pine is a volatile liquid which gives off fumes when it comes in contact with the delicate membrane of the mouth and throat. These fumes enter the air cells of the bronchial tubes and lungs and cut the phlegm or mucus which fills the lungs in pneumonia and causes the tickling sensation in bronchitis. If Glando Pine is taken when the first signs of a cough or cold appears it will destroy cold, grip or influenza germs that may be lodged there before they have time to get imbedded into the delicate membranes of the lungs or bronchial tubes. Glando Pine should always be kept in the house, so it can be used when the first indications of a cold appear. Glando Pine has a wonderful record for curing long standing chronic coughs. Its record is marvelous.

Glando Pine is put up in a concentrated form. Get three ounces (50 cents worth) of your druggist and mix it with any good syrup or honey and you will have a pint of the best cough medicine ever made. Keep it on hands and use it freely. Can be given to very young children in perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Injured Man's Condition Unchanged

Vinton Hull, who sustained a fracture at the base of the skull when he was thrown as he jumped from a truck on the lower Bellbrook pike Thursday noon, is in about the same condition today as he was following the accident. There was a slight hemorrhage from the head Thursday afternoon. The attending physician believes that he will recover from the injury is, considered very serious oral days to determine the outcome. He is conscious but slightly delirious at times, and has no recollection of the accident.

AGED WOMAN SUSTAINS BAD FALL

Mrs. Mary Hagler who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Spahr, on the Stone road, fell a day or so ago, and sustained a serious injury to her spine and hip. The accident occurred when her crutches, which she has used for the last twelve years due to a fractured hip, slipped and allowed her to fall. Mrs. Hagler is in her 88th year, and because of her age the injury is considered very serious. She had a sinking spell Thursday, but Friday was a little improved.

The Seats of the Mighty.

A certain captain went calling upon the village belle. The old man kept a very vicious housedog, and upon the occasion of the officer's call the dog was untied. When the fearsome canine had finished with the captain the seat of the latter's trousers was missing. His brother officers, joshing him about his predicament, asked if the girl was worth risking his anatomy in that fashion. The captain replied: "Maybe not, but I have always been willing to give up my seat to any lady!"—Judge.

Sea-Island Cotton.

Practically all of the sea-island cotton is produced in the states of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, the finest coming from the chain of islands off the Carolina coast. It is well named sea-island cotton, as when grown away from the coast the fiber rapidly degenerates into upland cotton unless seed grown in the islands is obtained for planting successive crops.

DECEMBER WEDDING ANNOUNCED AT PARTY.

The marriage, which will be an event of this month, of Miss Ila Andrews and Mr. Alfred Hutsler, was announced Wednesday evening, by Mrs. Raymond Williamson and Miss Mary Williamson, when they entertained twenty-five young people at the home of Mrs. Williamson on the Columbus pike.

The coming marriage was announced in a unique manner. Each guest was furnished with a key to a little pasteboard bungalow in which the secret was contained in a little pasteboard trunk. Little Miss Dorothy Andrews had the key which fitted the lock of both the bungalow and the trunk and she found the secret. The date for the marriage has not been announced.

Miss Andrews is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duff Andrews of Cedarville and Mr. Hutsler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutsler of New Jasper. Following their marriage this month they will live on a newly furnished farm between Yellow Springs and Clifton.

Every harvest looks back to a sowing. The sowing. "Amen Corner." The phrase "amen corner" is said to have originated in London, where, at the end of the Paternoster row, the monks at one time finished their recitation of the "Pater Noster" as they went to procession on Corpus Christi day at St. Paul Cathedral. They began in Paternoster row with the Lord's prayer in Latin, continuing it to the end of the street, and then said "amen" at the corner of the row. As used in this country the phrase describes the corner of a church where the elderly members sit and pronounce the word "amen" at intervals.

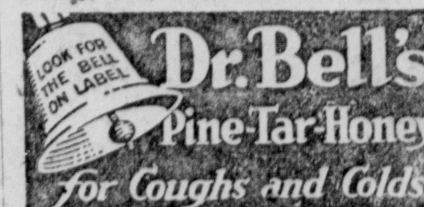

Got Him Guessing. "I got my troubles," replied the new waiter. "When men have a friendly scrap about paying the check I can spot the right man to hand it to every time. But with women I make all kinds of fool mistakes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Smoothing Marital Troubles.

In Norway, when a husband and wife discover that they can no longer live in harmony, they go tell their troubles to a magistrate, who sends them to a conciliation board, a sort of "kiss-and-be-friends" committee who do their best to make the erring couple mutually agree to overlook the other one's faults and persuade them to make another try at the game. If this fails, they are granted a separation order. If at the end of the year they still find each other's company unbearable the ministry of justice is bound to grant a final divorce if asked by either party. Many repent at leisure for hasty parting, as in the case of a well-to-do Swiss farmer who has recently married the same wife for the fourth time.—Detroit News.
